

Financial Stewards

The financial stewards have been quite active in the past year not only looking over and monitoring the finance as the Penn West Conference but trying to encourage stewardship wherever we can engage in the conversation. We are very excited about the 2 workshops we are offering at the annual gathering this year which will include personal testimony by the presenters. Stewardship is the basic building block for our own spiritual growth and that growth helps or local churches. Most churches struggle with sufficient funds to keep the lights on and the doors open not to mention our work in missions both locally and globally. Come, join in the conversation and find the food to feed your flock.

Attitude is contagious.
