

Treasurers Report 2023

As I come to the end of my term and reflect on where we are financially, and where we are headed' I am reminded of an old saying, "You can't pull hair where there is none!" Our income does not equal our expenses. This isn't the first time we have been in this position either! We are not alone as a conference or a denomination! Many of our member churches are facing similar challenges. Your Board leadership and committees have been engaged in conversations and studies exploring options and opportunities to live within our means. Once again, we see that God is still speaking! We have been called to work together to share our time talent and treasury. I am constantly amazed at the relationships we have shared with others in the church. There is Hope. If you are reading this, God is not done with us yet. There is still work to be done. We still are disciples and directed to go out and make disciples of others. More hands make work lighter! Together we are stronger.
